The Boston Strategy Group is an educational services firm leveraging Applied Improvisation (AIM) techniques and approaches to improve organizational function. We provide a range of professional skill programs to corporate, healthcare, and university clients. Our curriculums consists of 50 independent syllabi in six professional skill areas:

We believe that innovative AIM curriculums can turn emerging leaders into great business improvisors to respond deftly to challenging, complex and everchanging environments.

Each program includes a comprehensive agenda, management materials, specific exercises, and discussion points designed to raise awareness, improve comprehension, and increase professional capabilities. Success metrics and evaluation are a vital part of the program. Experienced applied improvisation facilitators lead workshops. These programs enable participants to explore--in a safe and interactive group manner--their personal skills, their interaction style, and how to achieve professional improvement. A wide variety of additional, tangible materials and content can augment programs, as requested by the client.

These programs provide an extensive set of benefits, including enhanced interpersonal proficiency, improved teamwork and working relationships, greater creativity, enriched listening skills, and a reduction in stress levels, among many others.
